It was on Friday, February the thirteenth of this year that Jerry performed the deed meriting the award.

That day there was ice on the Olentangy river. After school Jerry and two school friends, Patricia Pommert and Carl Geyer, 13, went ice skating up and down the river.

Breaks Through Ice.

They were having fun.

Suddenly Jerry heard screams. She turned and saw that Carl had fallen through the ice, near the bridge over State Route 30-S at the east edge of Caledonia. He was in icy water estimated from 10 to 14 feet deep.

Jerry grabbed a long stick from the river bank and skated back to her friend. She couldn't get too close because the ice might crumble away. Lying flat and digging the tips of her skates into the ice, she extended the stick and held on with all her might while Carl pulled himself from the icy water.

Afterward Carl said his hands were so numbed by the cold he could hardly grip the stick. A swimmer, he was able to keep himself above water while Jerry was about her rescue work.

Quick Action Praised.

Caledonia community, after hearing details of the deed, generally agreed that if Jerry hadn't thought and acted with trigger quickness her schoolmate in the seventh grade at the Caledonia school would have drowned. As it was, when he had "thawed out" at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Henry, who live near the scene of the near-tragedy, he was little the worse for the experience. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Geyer, live at the north end of Caledonia.

Those who know Jerry give her all the credit in the world for the rescue, but they aren't surprised. She swims like a fish," dives fearlessly, likes to join in neighborhood football and baseball games, has ridden her pony "Prince" since she was 3, and dabbles at tennis, a game she's enthusiastic about but can't pursue beyond a net stretched in the yard because there's no court in the community. It's the concensus that if the community had a golf course Jerry would be among the players.

A Boy Scout handbook lays on her bedside table and she reads it avidly. Her mother thinks that maybe something Jerry read in it may have had something to do with her quick rescue of the Geyer youth.

Kenton Man Testifies About Events Preceding Fatal Shooting of Wife.

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 27—In his testimony this morning, Francis Edward Raver, 23, accused of fatally shooting his wife the morning of Jan. 26, said accusations of infidelity leveled at him by his mother-in-law and distress over the knowledge of his wife's sterility caused by a recent operation had combined to prey on his mind continually until the time of the shooting.

Raver testified Mrs. Golda Wetherill, his mother-in-law, had continually accused him of infidelity and had thereby caused a barrier between himself and his wife.

Christmas Quarrel

He said last Christmas morning was the first time he and his wife had talked of the possibility of a divorce. He told the jury his unsettled state of mind was further aggravated by an incident the night before the shooting when he and his wife came to their apartment and found Mrs. Wetherill entertaining a former hus-

Only One Absent Out of 73 in Mobilization Test.

About half of Marion's civilian police were initiated in their first patrol duty when a trial mobilization was conducted last night in three (1, 2 and 5) of the city's six police districts, north of Center street.

E. M. Breithaupt, chief of the civilian police force, said there was only one man missing among 73 who were assigned to posts within the whole section. Mr. Breithaupt, Chief of Police William E. Marks and three North Side area captains, Gene Hill, L. M. Sherman and Don Clark, toured the area, checking on the various posts and beats.

The area patrolled last night extends from Center street north to George street and from Jefferson street west to the railroad tracks. Mr. Breithaupt said the civilian police are concerned only with coverage of the business districts, not residential areas. Individual policemen patrol the length of a block, an intersection area and similar observation beats. There are two lieutenants for each of the city's six districts.

Although no definite date has been set for the next mobilization, officials said last night's trial was so successful that the next one probably will be held within the next two weeks.

JAPAN SHIFTS BATTLE SCENE TO INDIA AREA

Renewed Pressure Is Also Brought Against Corregidor; Quezon in Australia.

By The Associated Press

Japanese fleet movements in the Indian ocean suggested today that a new storm may be brewing far north of the Australian war theater as Japan's invasion armies exerted fierce pressure to knock out Chinese defenders of Burma.

Burma is the gateway to both India and China.

In the Philippines, a war department bulletin reported that Gen. Yamashita's invasion forces were pounding American-defended forts in Manila bay with increasing violence.

The communique said the enemy made seven successive aerial attacks on Corregidor island fortress in 24 hours, with the island under bombardment almost continuously from early morning until midnight Thursday.

The aerial assaults were resumed early today. So far, little damage was reported.

On Bataan peninsula, clashes between patrols, as well as troop and truck movements behind the enemy lines, indicated the invaders were preparing an all-out offensive.

Quezon In Australia

Meanwhile, President Manuel Quezon and his Philippine war cabinet rejoined Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Australia — less than a week after the Tokyo radio broadcast reports that Quezon was dead.

U. S. army headquarters said Quezon had left the Philippine "with the approval of both the American and Australian governments."

Indications that Japan may temporarily have switched her greatest pressure from the Australian to the Burma-India theater, particularly since the arrival of Gen. MacArthur and United States reinforcements, were seen in a marked decrease of Japanese aerial thrusts against the "down under" commonwealth and in the reported presence of Japanese warships in the Indian ocean.

British headquarters in India said a Japanese cruiser and several destroyers had been sighted in the waters around the enemy-captured Andaman islands in the Bay of Bengal, within striking distance of Calcutta and other Indian bases.

Simultaneously, a Tokyo radio announced the arrival of Japanese fleet units at Rangoon, Burma.

The presence of two Japanese naval forces in the north suggested that Japan may have shifted them from Java, New Guinea and the southwest Pacific to start a new phase of operations.

In the battle of Burma—the critical struggle for the eastern gateway to India—British headquarters reported that severe Japanese pressure was falling upon Chinese forces cut off from the north at Toungoo, on the Rangoon-Mandalay road.

Chinese Blocked

Japanese troops were said to have blocked the Chinese route of withdrawal eight to 12 miles north of Toungoo.

Hard-hitting "Flying Tigers" of the American volunteer group struck 70 miles deep into neighboring Thailand to blast Japanese airfields at Chiengmai and Lampun, destroying more than 10 enemy planes.

Chinese headquarters said the American fliers surprised 40 to 50 Japanese planes on the ground at Chiengmai and defied a hail of anti-aircraft fire to rake the craft with incendiary bullets. Seven fires were noted, with three enemy planes destroyed.

British efforts to mobilize India's 390,000,000 population on the side of the United Nations moved

ARCHBISHOP ILL AT CLEVELAND

Last Sacraments Administered to Most Rev. Joseph Schrembs.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 27—Last sacraments have been administered to the Most Rev. Joseph Schrembs, 76, archbishop-bishop of the Cleveland Catholic diocese, the chancellery announced today. His condition was described as critical.

"The people of the diocese have been urgently requested to pray for him," the chancellery said. He was receiving treatment at St. John's hospital, where he lives.

Archbishop Schrembs has been afflicted with diabetes for several years. Only yesterday, however, he went about his work as usual.

Made Bishop In 1911

Elevated in 1911 to the auxiliary bishopric of Grand Rapids, Mich., Archbishop Schrembs that same year became bishop of the Toledo, O., diocese. He was transferred in 1921 to Cleveland, and Pope Pius XII, soon after his coronation, elevated the Ohio prelate to the rank of archbishop. This honor, announced March 28, 1939, came in recognition of Archbishop Schrembs' "outstanding merits" and in anticipation of the 50th anniversary of his ordination to priesthood. Born in Bavaria, Archbishop Schrembs had been ordained June 29, 1889 at Grand Rapids.

He was the first American prelate to be honored by Pope Pius XII, who also conferred upon him the pallium, emblem of archepiscopal rank.

In the Cleveland diocese he received recognition as a builder. In one year, 1926, more than $6,000,000 was spent upon new buildings and institutions, and 50 new parishes were established during the first eight years of his leadership.

Last Interview Feb. 21

Last interviewed on Feb. 21—the 31st anniversary of his consecration as a bishop—he was visibly depressed by world conditions, but said the church would emerge triumphant from the war.

"We have 1900 and more years behind us," he said then. "Nations, empires, kings—all have fallen. The church still stands, fulfilling the promise of Christ that the 'powers of hell shall not prevail against us.'

"The only earthly power against the church today is Hitler and Hitler is ——

"You know, I find it hard to properly describe that man Hitler. Perhaps you'd better simply say that I believe Hitler and his associates are on their way out. Just let it go at that."

Archbishop Schrembs was too ill for an interview on his 76th birthday anniversary March 12.

ARNOLD URGES CONTROL OVER CARTEL TRADES

Assistant Attorney General Makes Recommendation in Synthetic Rubber Case.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 27 — Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, proposed to a senate committee today a requirement that in the future all agreements between American and foreign industries be registered with a full explanation of their purpose set forth.

Arnold made the recommendation to the senate defense investigating committee as one means of preventing such cartel arrangements as that between the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and I. G. Farben of Germany, which Arnold previously testified had frustrated development of a synthetic rubber industry in this country.

In asking legislation to "supplement the present inadequacies of the law," Arnold said that disclosure of the relations between Standard and I. G. Farben should be regarded as "a great educational lesson to the American people."

"I wish to point out and emphasize," he told the committee, "that Standard Oil is a guinea pig in this situation. It does not stand out alone. This sort of thing was going on in a large number of American industries.

Many Similar Cases

"I do not think it is an extreme statement to say that in most of the basic war materials we find similar cartel agreement.

"Therefore, we would lose the point of this hearing if the committee simply denounced Standard Oil. We need Standard Oil, with its technicians and its organization, to help us win the war.

"By the consent decree that company has indicated its willingness to make restitution in the sum of millions of dollars and at the cost of its future domination of the industry. We may well be grateful to that company for putting its arrangements in writing and thus to furnish an object lesson of the results of international cartels."

Arnold's testimony yesterday gave a picture of Germany's me-

Gov. Bricker Heads Group of Visitors in Tour of Ravenna Ordnance Plant

Gov. Bricker does safety shoes. They're "must" at Ravenna; no nails, soles sewed, heels vulcanized to eliminate all possibility of friction or spark.

Inspection Trip Furnishes Idea How Arsenal Looks in Operation; Governor Speaks to Workers.

Special to The Star

RAVENNA, O., March 27 — It was Bricker Day Tuesday at the vast Ravenna Ordnance Plant and Ohio's governor, John W. Bricker, accompanied by a limited contingent of plant executives, army officers and newspaper men toured the arsenal to see hell-in-the-making for America's enemies.

The governor spoke briefly at a luncheon in the reservation's new commissary, preceding the inspection trip.

W. E. Fletcher, general manager of the Ravenna division of the Atlas Powder Co., operators for the government, introduced Gov. Bricker.

"We are working days and nights and Sundays to get the plant into maximum production in the shortest possible time," he said. "Under the pressure and excitement of the work and of the war situation, our workers are living with their jobs and have little time to think of anything else. The governor of Ohio is a busy man. The interest he has shown by taking time to visit us, look at the plant, see our defense workers in action, is one of those things which gives the job a lift, makes it a little easier and enhances that morale which is so essential to the all out effort needed for the success."

Tells of Ohio's Role

Gov. Bricker reviewed the state's part as a "helper in the great national effort," citing the multiplication of duties which have fallen to the several departments of state government since the outbreak of the war.

"This is particularly true of the department of highways," said the governor. "General Beightler (now in command of the 37th Division) laid out and began work on the network of Ohio's strategic military highways. Hal G. Sours, the present director, is continuing the program. We are trying desperately to give primary attention to road building which will be of greatest benefit in the conduct of the war.

"The health department is working two shifts to keep up with its increased work. The requirement of plants such as this for birth certificates and identification have added much to the work of the health department and its daily mail now reaches as much as 5,000 pieces. Supervision of water supply has taken on new meaning.

Developing Markets

"Our department of agriculture, likewise, is busy, stimulating increased production of the things we need, searching for new markets for the things we over-produce.

"Thus the history of the period is finally told the most amazing thing about it will be the mobilization of American industry from the pursuits of peace to preparation for war. Farm Families Prepare for Moving Day as Part of U. S. Victory Plan

It's a Problem To Find a New Location, One Says, but He's Glad To Do It "If It Will Help Beat Those Japs."

Some 120 Marion county farm families are getting ready to give up their homes for their country.

A trip through the territory being acquired by the war department for the Scioto Ordnance Plant leaves you thinking about the fact that these homes they are to give up are possibly better than the average U. S. farm home. The land is fertile, the farms look prosperous, most of them are of more than average acreage, and for many of them the farms represent the only homes they have ever known.

Take the case of Homer Vigar. A reporter selected his farmhouse at random and dropped in to see what he and his family are preparing to do and to find out about some of the problems facing him and more than a hundred other farm families when they pull stakes in the next few weeks.

Wants To "Beat Japs."

Mr. Vigar hates to leave his farm and he faces a mass of problems that might easily seem almost insurmountable, but he feels all that about it—"if it will help beat those Japs." A man's home may be his castle, but even that must fall when the welfare of a nation is at stake, is his understanding.

Mr. Vigar, who is 48, his wife and Richard, [redacted] son, live on a 178-[redacted] will soon become [redacted] property.

"I'm not complaining," [redacted] ... of them intend to do, but you can't make any money selling off a lot of machinery and equipment with the idea of buying some more later when you find a farm. Some of them are going to take jobs in the new plant, but I never did anything else but farm, so I have no particular skill and I'd have to go as a laborer if I took a job on the plant. Even that probably would be temporary.

"Well, what can you do? I tell you it's a problem. I'm still looking, and I hope I'll find something, but if I don't I don't know just what I'll do.

Lots of Livestock

"You see, I've got 150 head of sheep, 10 cattle, about 60 hogs and three horses in the way of livestock. In machinery I've got a tractor, disc, plows, cultivators, grain drill, corn planter, manure spreader, mowing machine, hay loader and rake, plus a lot of [redacted] ... and ... [redacted] ... Marion and Prospect Men Receive U. S. Patents Protecting Inventions

Tractor Wheel Spacer and Hydraulic System of Propelling Boat Devised by Marion Co. Men.

A Marion man and a Prospect manufacturer are among Ohioans recently granted patents by the United States Patent Office, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

Clayton E. Gifford of 391 Summit street, chief engineer of the Huber Manufacturing Co., has been awarded a patent for a reversible tractor wheel and construction thereof. By means of Mr. Gifford's invention it is now possible to vary the space between tractor wheels without removing the wheels. In other words farmers using the tractors sometimes desire different spaces over which the rear wheels will run. For plowing the tractor operator desires a narrow breadth wheel span, but for cultivation of corn, for instance, wheels should be spaced farther apart.

To new control is now in operation on nearly all Huber tractors. Other manufacturers have also adapted the theory, Mr. Gifford said. The design was completed in 1936, but only recently approved by the patent office.

Keenan Hanley, owner of the Hanley Engineering Service at prospect, has been granted sole right of manufacture of a hydraulic propulsion mechanism for boats and other water vehicles. The contrivance operates from a central pumping system which draws water and then forces it out through outlets at the rear of the boat under the water level. The unit first gained attention when used for rescue work in the Ohio river flood of 1937.

Complete list of Ohioans granted patents are:

GUATEMALA—Howling monkeys and green parrots peek out through jungle foliage at tourists arriving by airplane to inspect Guatemala's famous Mayan ruins. For these ruins and chicle—the stuff that makes chewing gum chew—Guatemala is of great interest to Americans. The quetzal is the national bird, its iridescent green, brilliant red, shiny blue and black feathers reflecting the glorious Mayan civilization that flourished centuries ago. The quetzal, too, is the national currency unit. Choice of this bird as a national symbol indicates Guatemala's spirit for the quetzal, according to legend, cannot live unless it is free, dying soon after being caged. The country's language is Spanish but 70 per cent of the 3,284,000 population is pure Indian, the rest half caste. Guatemala runs from the Atlantic to the Pacific and, bounded by Mexico on the north and west, is the northernmost of the Central American states. After chicle, her jungle forests produce valuable tropical woods, mahogany, cedar. Her mountain sides grow fine coffee, 70 per cent of the crop being exported, much of it from Puerto Barrios, an Atlantic port only 800 miles south of New Orleans. From the coastal plains are shipped great quantities of bananas. Scarcity of raw materials and fuel retard manufacturing but Guatemala has a growing textile industry. Everybody takes a long lunch hour here, shops, banks, offices being closed from noon to 2 or 2:30 p. m., a hangover from the siesta of less bustling days. After Guatemala separated from the Central American Federation, she had two constitutions (1851 and 1876) before the republic's present constitution was adopted in 1879, setting up executive, legislative and judicial branches with a president, currently General Jorge Ubico; legislators elected for four-year terms, compulsory education and military service, all helping to infiltrate slowly modern ways of life into primitive civilization.

STATE PRISON MAPS DEFENSE

Warden Henderson Outlines Plans in Case of Air Raids.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 27—If actual warfare strikes here, Ohio penitentiary's little city of 260 guards and 3,730 inmates will be ready to minimize danger to itself and confusion inside the high stone walls.

Within a couple of weeks, Warden Frank D. Henderson will have his blackout and fire fighting equipment, incendiary bomb extinguishing crew, demolition squads, electrical and plumbing units, acetylene torch crews, first aid men, bomb removal and decontamination crews all set to move quickly to assigned position and duties when the air raid whistle blows six short blasts.

Henderson, former Ohio national guard brigadier general and state adjutant general, said in announcing his plans today that he expected the inmates to respond to his instructions gladly.

"I believe we have as high a spirit of patriotism here as there is any place," the warden declared. He added that inmates had purchased $10,000 worth of defense bonds and stamps in the past two months.

His general order to the prison staff declared that "the cell blocks and dormitories of the Ohio penitentiary are particularly well adapted to resist the effects of explosions from the outside and to localize the injuries in case of a direct hit on any building."

Experience of British prison officials was drawn upon by Henderson in making his plans in cooperation with the state defense council. Henderson quoted Alexander Patterson, commissioner of prisons for England and Wales, as saying that "the safest place during an air raid is prison" and recommending that inmates be kept in cells during air raids.

Henderson's outline of guard duties in case of blackouts or air raids included security of the institution against escape, protection against loss of life, prevention and control of fire, maintain proper order, and assurance by all officers to inmates that everything is being done to safeguard human life.

WARTIME CROP GOAL IN REACH

Ample Spring Moisture in Most Regions Assures Good Production.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO March 27—Unusually ample spring soil moisture supplies throughout most of the farm belt today brightened prospects that American agriculture's wartime goal of increased crop production in 1942 can be achieved.

Plows cutting the fertile Mississippi valley and western plains have disclosed the most favorable situation generally in possible memory in many sections, government reports. In some areas it is expected to permit field work, delay planting and crop sprouting growth but complaints because of dry have not been serious. In a few spring wheat belt localities, dry conditions prevail.

Crop experts said favorable weather and other conditions must follow this good start to insure success of the production drive. Complicating the farm picture also are the problems of obtaining machinery, tools, labor, fertilizer, storage room and processing equipment in some districts.

The most recent national survey of moisture conditions indicated that in almost every important locality of crop production, except for parts of Texas and the Dakotas and Minnesota, the situation is good. This survey, by Cargill Inc., grain merchandising firm, gave conditions as of March 20 and presented the following general picture:

Subsoil moisture — generally good, fair in eastern Montana, most of the Dakotas, spots in Minnesota Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and much of Ohio, poor along the Minnesota-South Dakota border and very dry in spots in this area moisture in these areas will have to be timely to prevent crop deterioration.

Surface moisture — Generally good, except in much of Texas, western Nebraska and much of the Dakotas and Minnesota. Fair in most of Texas and in spots of Iowa, Indiana and Ohio; poor to very dry in spots along the Dakota-Minnesota border in northeastern South Dakota and southeastern North Dakota and spots in Texas.

According to spring planting intentions of farmers, 12,000,000 more acres will be seeded to crops this year than last, making the largest acreage planted since 1933.

BATTLE OF ATLANTIC HITS DAIRY BARNS

Heavy Demands Made on U. S. Production.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON March 27—The battle of the Atlantic is forcing to step up tremendously the production of dairy products, the nation's dairy bins.

And the trouble may spread to the hog and cattle feeding lots.

The tenderness need for dairy products, the department said, might be eased if it would. In fact Great Britain and Russia could use huge quantities of evaporated milk for their armies, a member of the dairy products branch said, and the Atlantic supply route is the shortest of ships to the Pacific coast for lend-lease food shipments.

Consequently, prices on dairy products have been stimulated to a sufficient volume to meet the needs of dairy products and also to be at levels entailing no loss when buying got under way this summer and fall.

With the big production season for milk just ahead, further price actions may be unnecessary, dairy officials said, unless the department decides on increases in the government buying prices for milk products, volume and stores the surplus for possible future needs.

... the barest possible instant. Melissa was tempted to tell him the truth. But then she remembered in time. He needed the friendship of the Marstons. The show boat needed it. The jobs of the people aboard it depended on Marston's tolerance, on his willingness to wait for dividends until the River Queen was more firmly established.

And so after a moment, when Randy asked almost sternly, "You like Jimmy, don't you" she was able to say with convincing warmth, "Oh, yes! A lot."

Randy patted her shoulder lightly and said quietly, "Then you see him a lot—as often as you like. If you find that getting here in time to do your number interferes with anything Jimmy wants, pass up the getting here in time for your number. We can manage without you—if we have to."

"You won't'" said Melissa swiftly. "I'll be here—regardless of Jimmy or the whole Marston tribe."

But Randy hadn't waited to hear that. He had turned and walked swiftly away as though he had already forgotten about her and her problems She stared after him for a long moment, her shoulders drooping a little, and then she lifted them, squared them, drew a deep breath and turned toward her stateroom to prepare for her next number.

Tense Scene

After that Jimmy was a frequent visitor to the River Queen. He and Melissa squabbled a lot, but he kept coming back for more. He took her in to New Orleans for dinner and matinee-movies, quarreling now and then when she insisted that they get back to the River Queen in time for her number. Often he brought parties to the show boat and they looked curiously at Melissa.

Occasionally the girl, Honoria Stevens, whom everybody called Honey, was in the party, and she was always sulky and rude, making it plain that she had come very much against her will. Jimmy, knowing that she was bitterly jealous of Melissa, often taunted her with his especial devotion to Melissa until one night Melissa herself rebelled.

They had been dancing between the performances of the floor-show, and Honey was almost in tears when Melissa said to Jimmy, "It's awfully warm in here. Shall we go out on deck for some air?"

"Why not?" said Jimmy eagerly. "Theres' a swell moon — I should have thought of it myself. You folks will overlook our departure, I trust."

Melissa saw the little taut look about Honey's mouth, how her smoky gray eyes had gone sullen and bleak. And out on deck Melissa avoided Jimmy's attempt to put his arms about her and said sternly, "See here, Jimmy, you've got to stop using me to make Honey miserable. You know she is crazy about you, and you're just flirting with me to make her jealous."

Jimmy was studying her with a curious intentness, and suddenly he said unexpectedly, "I'll admit that at the very first it gave me a kick to feed Honey a bit of her own medicine. She's been pretty highhanded with me for years—keeping me dangling, trying to make a fool out of me because she knew I was crazy about her. And then you came along and offered me a chance to dish it out to her. At first, that's all it was—I admit it. But later—well, now, Melissa! it's you and not Honey. And that's on the level, so help me! I'll marry you tomorrow, Melissa, if you'll let me."

"I won't, Jimmy, of course You know that—you've known it all along," said Melissa swiftly.

Jimmy's face darkened a little. "You say that as though you really meant it," he said sharply.

"I do," said Melissa, and added "Look, Jimmy, be a nice boy. Honey's the girl for you. She belongs in your crowd, your mother and father would be delighted if you would marry her—"

"Oddly enough I prefer to marry to suit myself, rather than to please my parents," said Jimmy like a sulky, spoiled little boy.

"Well, you wouldn't like me, Jimmy—not really." Melissa assured him firmly, trying hard not to let the exasperation she felt be registered too strongly in her voice "I'm not the girl for you—and Honey is So run along and be nice to her and stop worrying your mother by seeming to want to marry a show boat girl."

'See You Soon'

Jimmy studied her for a moment, and then, moving so suddenly that she couldn't guess his intention in time to avoid him, his arms caught her close and held her so that she could not struggle against him. And as she flung back her head to protest against his ruthlessness, he bent his head and his mouth found hers.

It was a long kiss, because she was completely powerless against his unexpectedness and his superior strength. But it was interrupted by a dry voice behind them, as Bill Hutchens said grimly:

"Forgive my intrusion, pray do! But Honey wants me to take her home. Jimmy—claims she feels a headache coming on And I can't say I blame her."

Jimmy released Melissa—not ...ly ... though Bill's arrival had startled him, but slowly, almost dramatically, as though he wanted Bill to be certain to grasp the full implication of the scene His eyes were brilliant in the ...light as he loosed Honey at ...flushed, outraged but helpless ...

"See you soon, sweetheart," ... ironically, and turned back ... toward the cabin.

Bill lingered a moment to say grimly, accusingly, "I suppose you are getting a heck of a lot of fun out of this—making a monkey out of Jimmy and just about breaking Honey's heart. But it's a cheap, dirty trick, no matter who's doing it. You know darned well Jimmy wouldn't marry you even if his family would let him. So why don't you leave the guy alone?"

"Why don't you make him leave me alone?" Melissa blazed hotly, humiliated and bitterly hurt by the unpleasant little scene. "He comes here of his own accord. I have to be nice because I work here—but if you could coax him to stay away, I'd appreciate it."

Bill made a rude sound indicative of his disgust and his doubt of her sincerity, before he turned and went away

Melissa stood on deck for a long time, her face lifted to the moonlight, her hands gripped hard on the railing, her teeth set She felt that she hated and despised Jimmy Marston with all the force in her body and she hoped she need never see him again.

But she knew, with a dreary certainty, that she would He was piqued because she had resisted his charm He would have ... interest in her immediately if she had fallen under his spell, as he was accustomed to having girls do' but she had rejected him she had made it plain that she was completely unimpressed by his magnetism and special and now he was on his mettle determined to convince her that he was a "swell deal"

It was too late now to pretend She shrugged and turned away to her stateroom to freshen her make-up before time for her next appearance on the stage

Ethical Mixup

IF POLITICAL spokesmen and labor leaders want to know more about public prejudice over labor's overtime bonus for more than 10 hours of war work a week, they'd better send their professional listeners out to pick up comment on the disclosure about the Jack & Heintz Co.

Here was an instance in which the circumstances of war production apparently made it possible for a manufacturer to do what labor traditionally has argued that employers should do—share a windfall. The company, by its own admission, was extremely liberal with its employes. It also was liberal with its own officials.

This evidently was done well within the limits of the law; at the price allowed by the government a manufacturer was able to make a large amount of money. But it is plain from public comment on disclosures about the company's practices that there is an ethical mixup. The public isn't sore about the way Jack & Heintz employes were treated, or about the way company officials treated themselves. The same policies would have been dandy in peacetime. But now, in wartime, the same public can think of only one thing: It has to pay for every extra penny of war production cost that might be saved. Inordinate gain on the part of either management or labor comes out of the people's purse.

Perishable Goose

EARNINGS reports of large corporations rarely make interesting reading, except to stockholders. Buried in them, however, is a great deal of vital information distilled from intimate experience with production problems. For instance, United States Steel Corp. includes this thoughtful passage in its 40th annual report:

"Total tax provisions in 1941 were $191,000,000, or 121 per cent more than in 1940. It is to be hoped that the ability of American industry fully to serve the nation in this great emergency be not weakened by restrictive tax legislation. A fundamental consideration, therefore, is that a method of taxation be provided which will result in maximum revenue towards meeting the war cost without curtailing production or undermining reserves required for the effective operation of industrial facilities. If taxes were to become excessive, relative to income, they would become levies upon assets, which would result in a curtailment of ability to produce."

Or in much simpler words: Government must not make the mistake of forgetting that the goose which lays the golden egg is mortal.

No Longer Old at 45

SPECULATION about drafting men from 45 to 64 for industry after they register on April 27 brings some twinges of reminiscence. It wasn't so long ago that the high foreheads were discussing the question of what to do with men who had reached their 45th birthday. It was a tough problem.

They couldn't be put in lethal chambers. Many of them were reasonably good specimens and in excellent repair, even though industrial policy was against taking them on at so advanced an age lest they prove to be liabilities. Young men were better risks. They were preferred for the same reason young men are preferred for military service; they had more service left in them. There was nothing for them to do but to grow old gracefully.

It all seems like something that happened a long time ago now, in the era of Huey Long and Doc Townsend and Princess Eugenie hats. Of course that doesn't mean it won't happen again, but if they'll hold off long enough a lot of old gaffers in the prime of life will be able to cackle that they never felt younger in their lives than they did the day they registered at the age of 60 for whatever Uncle Sam wanted them to do, up to and including pole vaulting.

Home Government

THE EFFORT to translate everything into military terms is carried too far sometimes, Dr. James J. Waygood, neuro-psychiatrist, told the Institute on Family Relations the other day that every controversial phase of family life should be handled by a family "war council." This should contain, he said, a commanding officer, lieutenants and a tough sergeant.

It makes a younger brother wonder where keen observers like Dr. Waygood are hiding themselves to keep from finding out what goes on behind the front doors of America. That commanding officer, for instance. Is there a child in the land so tender, so naive that he doesn't know who that is? Or those lieutenants—those second lieutenants? Breathes there a soul with memory so dead that he can't remember when he was a shavetail and consistently over-ruled in family councils, warlike or otherwise?

The payoff is the tough sergeant. There's a picture for you, without stripes on the sleeve—a picture of Papa with his coat off and his jaw set, laying down the law. Dr. Waygood's advise is sound. It has been sound for the last several hundred years, except that they were too polite to speak of what went on as a war council. They customarily described it as "talking things over," but there was no important difference.

News Behind the News

Prospects of 45 to 64 Draft Registration Cloaked in Conjecture.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 27—The precise nature of this coming 45 to 64 draft registration of manpower for civilian duties outside the army will probably remain unexplained until after it is concluded.

Draft Brigadier General Hershey has been making a speech a day about this phase and others for nearly two weeks. But he always speaks off his cuff, never from a prepared manuscript and no stenographic notes are kept, at least not at his headquarters.

There the piecemeal news accounts are pasted in a scrap book as a record. All these clippings show is that General Hershey expects a full mobilization of manpower (quantity and quality unspecified) for all kinds of industrial jobs (likewise unspecified).

Industry, reading these accounts in the papers, has become somewhat apprehensive lest the government turn itself into a gigantic transfer agency to shift most people from the work they are doing into something else, with all the implications of socializing, salary-changing, business destroying (in some lines, that might be conjured from such an apprehension. I do not believe this is justified.

DRAFT CHIEF HERSHEY

What the officials behind the draft seem to have in mind is based on need for the long range future. They cannot say what they will do until the returns show them what they can do. At present there is no need for this type of draftee.

Needs

But about nine months from now, they foresee the possibility that there will be a shortage of soldiers of production, mainly mechanics, electricians, draftsmen, machine operators of various types. They want to find out now what they have available to meet such a need when it arises.

A fair idea of the needs they expect is furnished by the questionnaire to be distributed to the current batch of draft registrants (36 to 44 and 20-21). On that published list, the citizen is asked to designate what previous experience he has had along a couple of hundred (mostly mechanical) lines. The upper age brackets in this class too, face a call for non-military duty, and eventually all who are not in military service.

You will not escape just because you are not mechanically minded. They plan to invite you to run a bus or truck or give you some simple occupation like night watchman in a tank factory, if you are not otherwise fitted, and the need develops.

Certainly, however, they will be limited by the number of empty jobs and in a general way by aptitudes of the draftees. Above all, an act of congress will be required to enable anyone to be drafted for other duty than in the army. The law now is restricted to that purpose.

My personal impression is these obvious limitations will prevent the effects of industrial drafting from falling upon a great number of people, certainly upon far fewer than the draft for military service, although any opinion about this requires longer distanced vision than anyone enjoys these days.

Agency

A new agency of government will probably be established for this manpower mobilization. It is not likely to be in charge of any of those so far mentioned, Madame Perkins, Sidney Hillman, General Hershey or Paul McNutt.

Miss Perkins naturally thinks it should be in the labor department and McNutt has been working on the assumption it is a question of public welfare. Varying degrees of conflict have arisen between these four, which precludes the possibility that any of them will handle it.

Daggers

Mr. Roosevelt is looking daggers at the press again, the sharpest of them being off the record. An erroneous report in one paper that Ambassador Winant might head the manpower mobilization set-up is the only apparent thing that roused his interest the wrong way.

But his displeasure became known at a time when the labor issue was rising in congress and the press. He leveled off the congressional upswing somewhat by having his leaders (except Thurman Arnold) testify there against labor legislation, but many sections of the press kept rising.

The President appeared to contradict himself somewhat when he concluded the press has not as much power over public opinion as it formerly enjoyed. This is probably true. People today are better educated to the issues of the day and seem increasingly inclined to do their thinking independently.

Yet if this is correct, Mr. Roosevelt may have misguided the labor objections he has heard from congress or read in the press. If these were superficial criticisms limited to these two authorities then they can easily be dissipated by counter-pressure.

But if congress and the press are reflecting and reporting the sentiments of a great number of people, the criticism cannot be stopped even if congress and the press were subdued.

Hitler's Private Income

One of World's Largest, Though He Assails "Plutocrats."

LONDON—Adolf Hitler, violent critic of "plutocrats," draws the greatest private income in the world, according to the London Times.

Hitler is sole owner of Zentral Verlag, the great German publishing combine which has an annual turnover of about $280,000,000, employs more than 100,000 workers and shows a net profit of between $26,000,000 and $40,000,000.

No balance sheets are ever published; no auditor is ever allowed to examine the books. By terms of a contract arranged between Hitler and the director of the whole structure, Hitler has complete and absolute control over the company's income.

Private Affair

What he does with the money is a mystery, the Times declares. "It comes to him, not as the Fuehrer, but as the head of a private concern. It is said in Germany that the Berchtesgaden house and estate are kept up out of this income, but even the whole paraphernalia of electric lifts and brightly lit tunnels cannot account for more than a small fraction of the great sum."

The Times reports that Hitler's control began in 1921 when the Zentral Verlag der NSDAP (National Sociality Party) was registered as a company in the name of Hitler.

"At first its development was slow, but after Hitler took power, it grew quickly by the simple process of confiscating almost all competitors. In 1939 it took over the Jewish concerns of Mosse and Ullstein, two of the largest publishing houses.

News Monopoly

"About the same time, it took over, again by confiscation, the famous Wulf News Agency. Now known as the German News Agency, this service has a complete monopoly in the German news field.

"Zentral Verlag owns practically all of the advertising agencies. All the party books and periodicals have also to be published through Zentral Verlag — which means that it gets all the profits, not merely from compulsory sales of Mein Kampf, but from the innumerable and lengthy books by Rosenberg, Goebbels and other Nazi leaders.

"In addition, almost all technical and professional periodicals in Germany are printed through the same channel—Hitler's Zentral Verlag.

Owns Newspaper

"Its greatest business is in the publication of newspapers. It now owns two-thirds of all German newspapers outright in addition to drawing advertising revenue from eleven of the others. Each day more than 16,000,000 newspapers out of the total German circulation of 25,000,000 come from the Zentral Verlag. Income from their sale alone reaches $96,000,000 yearly."

Recently in Berlin, Hitler put in his usual word against "Jewish and democratic plutocrats" and it brought the usual cheerful hisses.

But his audience was listening to a man who controls a financial structure far beyond the highest dreams of any publishing magnate in the state of society which he so vehemenaly condemned.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, March 27, 1932.

Miss Laura Wood, student at nurses training school of Western Reserve university, was an Easter guest of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Wood of South State street.

Miss Florence Sweney, student at Ohio Wesleyan university, was home to spend spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Sweney of Pearl street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aikin and son Ross of East Church street attended a family dinner given at the home of William Fisher of west of Richwood in honor of his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary.

Marion's Easter observance began with sunrise services. Approximately 300 persons attended the services held on the steps of Harding memorial under ausnices of the Harding Hi-Y and Girl Reserve clubs.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, March 27, 1922.

It was predicted that the U. S. senate would pass a soldier bonus measure before adjournment of the session.

Three small boys, aged 7, 8 and 11, serving five-year prison terms for alleged burglary of a post-office in West Virginia, were soon to gain their liberty and be returned to their parents through the interest and investigation of Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the President, a Washington, dispatch reported. An investigation of their cases by the department of justice which followed Mrs. Harding's intervention disclosed an unusual set of circumstances which led to the imprisonment of the trio. Officials said they should never have been sentenced, not alone because of their tender ages but because the evidence did not warrant conviction. They had served about six months in a national reform school in Washington.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Whaley of West Columbia street.

Mrs. Lucinda Reeves, 61, died of pneumonia at her home on East George street.

It was announced that Victor Doyle, sophomore in St. Mary Parochial school, was one of 25 students to receive an award of $50 in a George Washington essay contest conducted for pupils in elementary and high schools by a New York newspaper.

Getting Ohio Ready

Complete plans for the immediate repairing of any bridges in the State of Ohio which might be bombed by enemy planes have been made by all divisions of the Ohio department of highways, Hal G. Sours, director, reports.

Special crews in each district have been formed so they may get into action as soon as damage is reported to any bridge in the state by bombs or sabotage, Director Sours said.

He pointed out that because of Ohio's central location many war products are constantly rolling over Ohio's roads and bridges from east to west and from west to east and that supplies and materials also roll southward where huge aircraft factories are located.

Just recently one of the largest anti-craft guns built in the United States traversed northern Ohio's highways crossing scores of bridges on its journey to be put into use by the United States army, the director brought out.

Private motor vehicle ownership in the United States has risen 20 per cent in the past decade while government ownership of motor vehicles has increased 146 per cent.

Deluge on Capitol Hill

Economy Sentiment Getting Close To Home.

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON, March 27—The burst of economy sentiment in congress is getting close to home in a way that is a little embarrassing to some senators.

Ever since the clamor about "frippery" and "coordinators of coordinators" started echoing around Capitol Hill, senators and congressmen have been making speeches about the mountains of protest mail they have been receiving from folks at home.

Senator Tydings, Democrat of Maryland, saw what was coming—a demand for more secretarial help to take care of the mail. Last year it was proposed that each senator be allowed an additional $4,500-a-year assistant, but the bill was defeated after sharp debate.

As chairman of the legislative appropriations subcommittee, which recommends how much should be spent for secretaries, Tydings made up a table showing how many letters each senator received from Jan. 8 to Feb. 28, inclusive—51 days. He inserted the table into the Congressional Record.

His object, he drily informed the senate, was to "show what senators claim they are receiving in the way of mail and what they have actually received." He hoped to "evolve a system which will be fair to all and which will bring the greatest amount of relief to those who have been overburdened with mail."

Tydings granted that senatorial mailbags have been bulkier since voters really warmed up to the subjects of labor, war effort and economy, but he suggested that even so some of his colleagues may have been letting their imaginations run.

What did the table show? Well, here are the first 10 (not necessarily the one who have been doing the most talking):

1. Senator Brooks (R-Ill.) average of 401 letters a day.
2. Senator Mead (D-N. Y.) 260.
3. Senator Connally (D-Tex.) 219.
4. Senator O'Daniel (D.-Tex.) 204.
5. Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) 184.
6. Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) 180.
7. Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) 173.
8. Senator Tydings (D-Md.) 163.
9. Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.) 156.
10. Senator Byrd (D-Va.) 154.

For the most part, you'll note, these senators are from the most heavily populated states. Tydings' own state, however, is 28th in population and Pepper's is 27th. Virginia, the state of Senator Byrd, the leading senate economy advocate, is 19th.

Great Guns

In every single second from now till the end of June the U. S. navy alone expects to shoot about $231 worth of ammunition. This happens to be about what 10 small income tax payers will hand over sometime before March 15.

The comparison gives an idea of the rising cost of war. Latest bill for navy appropriations — $26,494,000,000—equals the entire cost of World war I to the United States. It contains money to assure, among other things, production of naval aircraft up to 18,000. In evidence given legislators considering the latest appropriations bill it was pointed out that plane losses may run as high as 100 per cent—through loss in combat, in accidents and ordinary wear.

Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of bureau of ordnance, admitted that ammunition expenditure estimates are guesswork, but explained that British experience indicated the cost might run $20,000,000 a day, which figures out at $231 a second.

War Work May Cancel I.O.O.F. Convention Here

Stepped-up war production in the Marion area may result in canceling a state Odd Fellows convention here in July, it was reported today following a meeting last night of Canton Marion No. 66, Patriarchs Militant.

Lack of facilities to house and entertain the convention was given as the reason for considering moving the meeting to another city.

The problem has been placed before the grand lodge officers, who will make the final decision.

The department council and auxiliary of Patriarchs Militant and the grand encampment of the I. O. O. F. accepted an invitation months ago to hold the 1942 state meetings in Marion.

WAR WORKERS EXCUSED FROM DUTY ON JURIES

Housewives and Non-Essential Workers To Get Calls.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 27—More jury duty for housewives and non-essential office workers, less for producers of war material is the new pattern for Cuyahoga county civil and criminal courts.

Jury Commissioner Harry H. Coop said the plan would be inaugurated immediately in common pleas civil and criminal courts to free 250 war workers a week and save for war production between 5,000 and 6,000 man-hours weekly.

The plan would release men and women machine operators and inspectors in factories and shop offices if they were classified as essential by plant officials.

No exemptions would be granted women employed on routine office jobs or men whose temporary absence from their factories did not jeopardize war production.

War Board Releases Refrigerator Stocks

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 27 — The war production board today unfroze stocks of domestic electric refrigerators held by dealers and permitted their unrestricted retail sale.

The action will permit dealers to dispose of the units which they had on hand as of Feb. 14 when the government froze all such inventories.

Under the original WPB order, a dealer was allowed to sell up to 100 new refrigerators or 1-12 of the number he sold in 1941 with sales dating from the freezing order.

Restrictions still apply to gas and kerosene refrigerators because of shortages of such equipment. WPB said but dealers will be permitted to sell them back to distributors or manufacturers.

After the War

A United States of Eastern Europe?

A committee which has had little publicity is working today against the time when peace finally returns to Europe. Here is a comprehensive story of how this international group is planning for a United States of Central Europe.

By PAUL J. C. FRIEDLANDER
Wide World Features Writer

NEW YORK — In a small, crowded back office on the fourth floor of the Polish consulate in New York, the Central and Eastern European Planning Board is working quietly, hopefully toward the day when the United Nations shall win the war.

"It is just as necessary," explains Feliks Gross, secretary general, "to prepare for the peace as it was to prepare for the war."

And when peace finally comes, the Planning Board hopes to transfer from its paper-littered conference table to the peace conference table and thence into reality, its proposal for an economic, political and financial federation of 110 million people dedicated to keeping the peace in Eastern Europe.

The board is an outgrowth of cooperation through the International Labor Office and of agreements signed in January between Poland and Czechoslovakia, and between Greece and Jugoslavia. These four contracting nations now have banded together cooperatively for mutual solution of the problem of security.

Nine-Nation Bloc

The board looks forward to a union of the peoples of these four nations and of Bulgaria, Rumania, Austria, Hungary and Albania into a solid bloc stretching from the Baltic to the Aegean sea, separating Russia from Germany. Railroad, mail and telegraph systems, and citizens of this federation would cross frontiers as they do state borders in the United States—without passport or customs guards. Monetary structures would be stabilized and integrated, probably using one coin and currency system for the entire federation.

The Planning Board is working on another variation of the dream of a United States of Europe but this time, Gross points out, representatives of the nations involved will have worked out all the details, completed all the research and have an operating blueprint with the bugs removed before the peace conferences begin.

The principles of the United Nations as expressed in the Atlantic Charter and in the United Nations agreement are the basis of the board's reconstruction program, Gross said. The freedoms of life, liberty, religion, equality, free courts and free elections are guaranteed in the respective articles of federation.

The Polish - Czechoslovakian agreement states the purpose of the confederation is "to assure a common policy with regard to foreign affairs, defense, economic and financial matters, social questions, transport, posts, telegraphs."

'State's Rights'

The agreements guarantee preservation of the cultures, nationalities, artistic, cultural and racial individualities of the nations and leaves internal government to the respective sovereign governments.

Will such a confederation of so many previously antagonistic peoples work? Can Europe's small states give up their petty jealousies, their border guards, their passport systems, their tariff walls?

It can work, say officials of the Planning Board. They admit that Poland and Czechoslovakia have not always been friends, that Yugoslavia and Austria and Hungary have fought for centuries. There are long standing racial hatreds, national dislikes.

"But the Nazis are working very well in our cause," Gross points out. "Our common hatred of the Nazis has united all the people. I think they will be glad in return for security—from war, from economic and financial bankruptcy which we in the Balkans have lived through three and four times in one generation—to forgive and forget."

Yugoslav Head

Sava N. Kosanovich, Yugoslavian minister of state, is chairman of the steering committee with these deputy chairmen: Jan Masaryk, minister of foreign affairs, and Jaromir Necas, minister for reconstruction, for Czechoslovakia; Prime Minister Emanuel Tsouderos and Stavros Theofanides, undersecretary of state for merchant marine, for Greece; Jan Stanczyk, minister of labor and social welfare, and Silwin Strakacz, minister to the League of Nations, for Poland.

Economists, financiers, industrialist experts and leaders of government are working quietly here and in London planning the federation to which Czechoslovakia may contribute the industrial center, Poland and Yugoslavia the agriculture, Rumania the oil, other Balkan states the coal and iron, and Greece and Yugoslavia the maritime strength.

"We are working quietly," Gross smiled, "because first the most important thing is to win the war. We will have our plans ready when that is done."

To put zip in the nation's cookery, the United States normally imports 75 million pounds of black and white pepper a year. Most of the black pepper has been coming from Java, Sumatra, Thailand, the Philippines, and the West Indies.

BRAZIL ACTS QUICKLY TO STAMP OUT SPIES

More Than 200 Secret Agents Rounded Up.

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 27—Brazilian officials moved swiftly today to stamp out the last traces of a gigantic Nazi spy ring centering in Rio De Janeiro after arresting 200 alleged secret agents and seizing four high-powered clandestine radio stations.

More arrests were promised as police pressed a sweeping investigation into the operations of a farflung organization they said had been relaying military information to Berlin as a world clearing house for the German espionage system.

"The organization is not yet eradicated," said one source, "but it is hoped that this initial blow will lead to a cleanup of South American leaks to Berlin."

Among the 200 already under arrest, police said, were a German admiral and a number of other Nazi government and army officials who allegedly held key espionage positions.

Also arrested were several Hungarians police reported had been operating small radio transmitters.

Police Chief Filinto Muller declared the arrests were the result of a secret investigation begun shortly after the outbreak of the war in September, 1939.

One of the four powerful radio stations seized was located in fashionable Le Blon suburb in a private residence occupied by Niels Cristiensen, described officially as "one of the most famous German radio technicians."

Police said Cristiensen, in custody, was in daily communication with Berlin by means of his short wave transmitter, which had a range of 9,000 miles.

In Cristiensen's possession police said they found 11 detailed reports on vessels in Rio De Janeiro harbor.

It was said daily reports had been radioed to Berlin including information on movements of North American and British shipping as well as other vital military data.

In addition to the large radio transmitters, police said they seized "an infinity" of other wireless equipment, quantities of material for micro-photography and elaborate chemical laboratories.

In wartime, ADVERTISING performs even greater services for you

For all of us, life is different from what it used to be. All of us are busy with war work and war problems. All of us are pressed for time. All of us are watching our expenditures more carefully than ever. Anything that saves us time and energy and money performs a very vital service today. Advertising does that.

In days like these, advertising performs even greater services for us than in normal times. In days like these, especially, we are thankful that we have advertising to rely upon. It gives us up-to-date and reliable buying news...something which we need today more than ever before. • It tells us of new products and services...new prices, new uses, new sizes, new containers. It advises us on how to economize, how to conserve what we have...and how to cooperate with the government's war program. It instructs us on what to do to protect our lives and our homes in case of emergency. It lets us know what the manufacturers of rationed products are doing to help win the war. • Above all else, it maintains the flow of available goods from producer to consumer...and in doing this, advertising not only makes it possible for millions of people to keep their jobs in factories, stores, and offices, but also protects, for the peacetime years to come, the high standards of American life ...Advertising, which has served you and the nation so well in the past, is serving you and the nation even better today.

Ferguson said he always has acted on the theory that in an open primary where an incumbent is not seeking reelection it is conducive to party harmony for state and county organizations to withhold indorsements.

"If a candidate who has not been indorsed gets the nomination, it is embarrassing both to the candidate and the committee and it is difficult to conduct an aggressive campaign."

Ferguson reiterated that he would win the nomination and be Governor Bricker's opponent at the November election.

Steel Drum Explodes Kills Akron Youth

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., March 27—The explosion of a large steel drum used in shipping rubber latex caused the death today of one Akron youth and seriously injured his companion.

Dead was Robert Rolenz, 15 son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Rolenz. His chum, Frank Cernava, 16, received severe face and head burns.

Police said the boys found the empty drum, in which latex had been shipped from British Malaya, at the city dump and rolled it to the Cernava family's yard. There they started filling it with water. The explosion occurred as the Rolenz boy lit a match near a vent in the drum to see how much water it held.

Patrolmen theorized the drum may have been washed out with benzine after it was emptied of latex. Frank's brother, Andrew, escaped injury.

OHIOAN WANTS U. S. TO STOP TIME WASTE

Clevenger Urges Government To Concentrate on War.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 27 — Rep. Cliff Clevenger (R-Ohio) contends that the government must get down to serious business in this war.

He suggested in a house speech that too much time was being spent on nonessentials.

Clevenger declared that the government was fostering construction of new sugar refineries and factories without regard to available facilities, adding:

"During the past winter a fine sugar plant in my state—the plant at Rossford—was being junked because it was unable to get a sugar-marketing quota to continue in the sugar business. Oh, strange indeed are the ways of the New Deal.

"Why, oh why, may we not get down to the serious business of getting bombs and bombers, shells and guns; yes, just cotton shirts and cartridges for our troops in uniform.

"My own son was required to turn in two of the four cotton shirts issued by the government because they did not have sufficient shirts to dress the boys in line.

"Cut out all the trimmings and let us get down to the serious job of winning this war."

Demolition and Repair Squads To Be Organized.

COLUMBUS, O., March 27—Demolition and repair squads and other "protective auxiliary forces will be organized in Ohio soon, the state defense council announced today.

"Citizens must organize for civilian protection and this includes fire fighting, demolition and repair squads and other protective auxiliary forces," said Courtney Burton, executive director.

Burton told the institute of civilian protection at Ohio State university that plans would be sent to 300 local councils.

Americans have learned that "defense is not enough," Jonathan Daniels, assistant director of the office of civilian defense, told institute delegates last night.

STATE SAFETY HEAD TALKS TO KIWANIANS

Says More Safeguards Against Accidents Needed.

The need for greater safety in industrial plants and in everyday life was emphasized in a talk on safety and hygiene by Thomas P. Kerns, superintendent of the division of safety and hygiene for the state industrial commission, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday at Hotel Harding.

Although safety movements have caused a decrease in industrial accidents, Mr. Kerns said the number of mishaps in factories is still high. He pointed out that the total accidents last year increased five per cent.

Members inducted into the club by C. Z. Zachman, chairman of the membership committee, were John S. Bobier, manager of the S. S. Kresge Co.; J. T. McCaffrey, manager of International Harvester Co.; and J. L. Zurk, clerk of the C. & O. railroad.

A list of reserve members was announced as follows: Anson Pickerel, proprietor of Anson Pickerel clothing store; Joe Hamilton, comptroller of Huber Manufacturing Co.; and Ralph Carhart, attorney.

Guests at the meeting included Rev. Father William J. Speckman, Ed C. Watters, L. E. Holt, Roy J. Garceau and C. A. Nystrom, who, with Paul Bachman, a member of Kiwanis, serve on the Marion Safety council.

CONG. SMITH HITS "RELIGIOUS TESTS"

Criticizes Part of Barber Control Bill Before Congress.

Voicing objection to any law which compels a person to prove his religion before he is allowed to work," Cong. Frederick C. Smith argued recently before the house that such a provision violates the principles of religious freedom, according to a communication from Washington, D. C.

His statements were in connection with house consideration of a bill introduced by Rep. Schulte (D) of Indiana, to close all District of Columbia barber shops on Sunday by voting control of opening and closing hours to the District of Columbia Board of Barber Examiners. By this bill one day out of each week all shops would remain closed except in such instances where shop owners could prove an adopted closing schedule would conflict with their religion.

The author of the bill contended that the provision did not require a "religious test" for the barber shop proprietor who was a Seventh Day Adventist, Seventh Day Baptist, or a member of other faiths observing the Sabbath on any day other than Sunday.

Answering Rep. Schulte's question if he was "opposed to labor" Cong. Smith said, "I resent strongly the inference that simply because I happen to be interested in removing the religious test for barbers in the District of Columbia, or anywhere else, that I am opposed to labor.

"There is no reason why anyone having a different religious faith than I have, and I happen to be a Methodist, should have his religion dragged into a law of this sort. One of the most dangerous issues a legislative body can raise is that of religion. If you can raise a religious test in a case of this kind, certainly you can raise it in many others," Cong. Smith declared.

He succeeded in having an amendment written into the bill to eliminate the "religious test" but it was defeated and stricken out on a final roll call vote.

FIVE ZONE CHANGES STUDIED BY BOARD

Three Granted, One Refused and One Is Tabled.

Five petitions to transfer residential properties into the business district were received at a meeting of the city planning commission in City Hall Thursday. Three were passed, one was rejected and one was tabled by action of the commission.

An application of L. E. Bigas of 277 Lincoln avenue to change his dwelling into a machine repair and blacksmith shop was accepted.

A joint application by Robert C. Pence of 422 Olney avenue and Lawrence B. Morse of 545 Avondale avenue to transfer the Pence dwelling into a store room for refrigerator parts was granted by the commission, who stated that, because the transfer violated no city ordinance, the petition would not have to be acted upon by city council.

An application by Everett Smith of 527 Grant street to change his dwelling into a chicken house for commercial purposes was rejected.

An application of Robert E. Bauman of Gebhardt street to establish a coal yard at his property was tabled by the commission.

Petitions passed by the board will be acted upon by city council in their next meeting April 13. A 30-day hearing period will then follow before final action on the petitions is taken.

Members of the commission, all of whom attended the meeting, are Mayor Russell C. Snare, Service Director Clyde C. Caldwell, Irving L. Dutt, E. H. Cowan, A. W. Newby, Andrew Baldauf and W. D. Kraner. City Clerk Lew Shadaker also attended.

CRAWFORD CO. ADOPTS SANITARY REGULATIONS

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, March 27—Looking toward an expected influx of defense employes in the county, the county board of health Thursday adopted legislation regulating sanitary regulations in any trailer camp or housing area.

Establishment and maintenance of camps of any kind are to be regulated by the health board and application for establishment of such a camp must be filed with the board and a permit secured.

Passage of the measure which was labeled as an emergency resolution was believed necessary because of a recent announcement by government representatives that a project to be known as the Scioto Ordnance plant is to be established on land in Marion county.

In the dwindling battle for the approaches to Australia, allied fighter planes swiftly broke up the twentieth raid by two Japanese bombers on Port Moresby, in southern New Guinea, shooting down one in flames and driving the other off before it could inflict any damage.

Dispatches from Port Moresby said Japanese troops driving down into southern New Guinea had "been halted" after a 27-mile advance from Lae.

Scene of Landing

Lae, 180 airline miles northeast of Port Moresby, was the scene of one of the first Japanese landings in New Guinea, March 8.

Emergency military control heretofore confined to coastal areas was extended over all of Australia's vast Northern Territory, which stretches for 1,000 miles from Charlotte waters to Darwin, Timor sea naval and air base.

Quezon and War Cabinet in Australia

By The Associated Press

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, March 27—President Manuel Quezon of the Philippine commonwealth and the Filipino war cabinet have arrived in Australia to rejoin General Douglas MacArthur, it was announced officially today.

A statement said:

"President Quezon and the war cabinet of the commonwealth government of the Philippines are rejoining General MacArthur in headquarters in Australia with the approval of both the American and the Australian governments."

Col. Legrande Diller, General MacArthur's spokesman, added that the Quezon party had arrived in Australia.

It was stated that since the beginning of the war Quezon had been exercising his governmental functions in close cooperation with MacArthur and had been located at the general's headquarters.

This arrangement will be continued, it was explained.

The president was accompanied by his family as well as by members of his war cabinet.

President Quezon's whereabouts since he left Manila prior to the Japanese occupation of the city Jan. 2 have been an official secret, though he has been mentioned from time to time in dispatches referring to his temporary capital "somewhere in the Philippines."

Only last Saturday the Tokyo radio broadcast reported that Quezon had died at Cebu. Several conflicting stories were told by the Japanese and other axis sources, one version saying Quezon had died after an illness and another declaring he had been "murdered" on orders from General MacArthur.

WORK STARTED ON NEW ISALY STORE

$4,000 Addition To Be Constructed on East Center St.

First steps in advance of the construction of a $4,000 Isaly retail store and fountain at 365 East Center street were taken yesterday when a crew of workers began leveling the lawn in front of the old building.

Charles H. Isaly, treasurer and general manager of the Isaly retail stores, said today the new sales room will be built as an addition to the building, the old Hane home. He said the addition would be in the form of an "L," one leg of which will extend along the front of the building, the other along the west side.

Mr. Isaly said the new store, to be operated along the same lines as all other Isaly retail stores, will offer a drive-in service with ample parking space in front of and to the side of the building.

It is hoped, he said, that the new sales room will be open for business by June 1. Construction will begin immediately after the leveling is completed. The section of the old home which is to be used will be entirely redecorated, Mr. Isaly said.

The original building permit for the new fountain-sales room was issued in 1940 and called for the use of steel in the framework. Tie-ups and priorities, however, necessitated formulation of new plans and the issuance of a new permit this month for construction without the steel.

Commission Upholds Removal of Official

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 27—The state civil service today upheld the removal of Carl R. Daubenmire as chief of examiners of steam engineers by George A. Strain Jr., director of industrial relations.

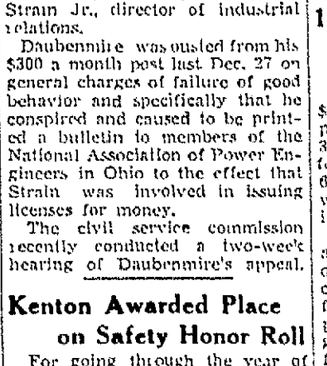
Daubenmire was ousted from his $300 a month post last Dec. 27 on general charges of failure of good behavior and specifically that he conspired and caused to be printed a bulletin to members of the National Association of Power Engineers in Ohio to the effect that Strain was involved in issuing licenses for money.

The civil service commission recently conducted a two-week hearing of Daubenmire's appeal.

Kenton Awarded Place on Safety Honor Roll

For going through the year of 1941 without a single traffic fatality, Kenton has been placed on the honor roll of the National Safety council along with 130 other U. S. towns of populations ranging between 5,000 and 10,000, according to an announcement received frm the council today. Other Ohio towns to win similar acclaim are Lockland, Delphos, East Palestine, Sidney, Circleville, Bellefontaine, Shelby and Logan.

ASKS REGISTRATION



Rep. Mary Norton of New Jersey, chairman of the house labor committee, urges that women be permitted to register voluntarily for war work on the next selective service registration day. She said she hoped President Roosevelt would amend the executive order directing men between 45 and 64, inclusive, to register so women could offer their services.

FARMERS

not kicking because I know it has to be done, but just stop to think what a bad time of year it come. All of the farms available for rent were rented to somebody before the season started. There just doesn't seem to be any land for rent. We've all started in on this year's work—we plowed 60 acres of land last fall and planted 30 acres of wheat. Of course the government says it's going to pay us for the wasted work we've done so far, but we're going to have to be pretty lucky to make this year's work count for much."

Fair Appraisals Assured.

Mr. Vigar, like many of his neighbors, realize that the government is going to be fair in its appraisals and that they don't have to be afraid of being robbed. "But you can't get around the fact that they can't pay you for everything that's involved in a move like this, —there's something about having your plans all laid out for the year and getting started on them that represents a loss when it's interrupted, but of course we can't expect anybody to pay us for that. Nevertheless, it's a loss."

Mr. Vigar's problems are manifold. His eight-room house is comfortably furnished. His 35 by 80 foot barn and eight other buildings around his farmyard bulge with stock, feed, machinery and the stuff that it takes to keep a farm going. He doesn't know where his home is going to be 60 days from now. Multiply his problem by approximately 120 and you get some idea of what the evacuation phase alone of the Scioto Ordnance Plant means.

18 Billion War Bill Voted by Committee

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 27—An $18,502,187,148 emergency appropriation bill carrying funds for 31,070 new army war planes and for an army which will reach 3,000,000 by the end of this year was sent to the house today by its appropriations committee.

Recommending that all but about $1,000,000,000 be turned over to the war department, the committee asked for $6,000,000,000 for airplanes, complete with spare parts, radio and ordnance. Congress provided funds in January for 33,000 planes and Lieutenant-general H. H. Arnold, air corps chief, said another 23,550 would be requested soon.

President Roosevelt recommended to congress a 60,000 plane program for this calendar year and a 125,000 plane program for 1943.

The total of the bill, which contained money for a host of war activities, boosted to more than $160,000,000,000 the defense and war appropriations made and in prospect since July 1, 1940. But the committee sounded a note of warning about considering that war supplies of that value had been acquired.

Missing Girl Found Loitering in Park

Police reported this morning that a 15-year-old West Side girl, who had been missing from her home since March 15, was taken into custody in Lincoln park about 6 p. m. yesterday.

A police cruiser was sent to the park in answer to a telephone call stating that a girl was loitering there. She is held in the county detention home pending an appearance before Juvenile Judge Gast.

Juvenile officials said the girl refused to say why she ran away from home or where she had been since she left. They said she apparently was not suffering from cold or hunger and that she was well dressed.

U. S. Planes Beat Nazi Craft on Turns, Pilots Say

By The Associated Press

WITH THE RAF IN LIBYA, March 27 — Slower on the straightaway but faster on the turns, the American-built Kittyhawk is hailed as the champion of the desert air over the German pride, the Messerschmitt 109F.

The American plane simply can "get around more neatly" than the German plane, its chief adversary here, which is 30 to 40 miles faster on the straightaway, Squadron Leader Cliver "Killer" Caldwell, Australian ace, explains.

The Messerschmitt is "all power and all speed—a big engine with little wings and a fuselage tacked onto it," outmaneuvered by the Kittyhawk's "bigger wing area and greater control surface," he said.

The matter of "know-how" is an important factor because, Caldwell admitted, the enemy "above a certain altitude has got it all his own way."

"He knows that, so he waits around up there, sometimes as high as 30,000 feet," he said.

"We know it, so we wait around below. That means he usually attacks first.

"He comes diving down at you. You have to keep turning, watching him carefully, always facing him and not letting him get on your tail. If you're careful, you can do this.

"Then as he gets near you shoot upward and go at him headon."

Caldwell, 30, has nineteen and one half enemy planes to his credit — the half representing his share of a plane which he and another pilot shot down cooperatively.

He was wounded once and has won the distinguished flying cross with bar for various feats, including the felling of five Junkers bombers in a single day.

The tall, slender blond with prematurely gray at the temples wants to add another notch to bring his bag of enemy planes to a full score—and lowered mechanically from the driver's seat.

"Then I want to go back to Australia to have a crack at the Japs."

Shells and shell-loading are something more than slick-looking. sharp-nosed jumbo bullets. They are intricate pieces of mechanism, to which many factories in many cities make a contribution. They must be delicately assembled, fitted and balanced, invested with an explosive message for Hitler and Hirohito.

You'd think the men and women who make them at Ravenna had been doing it all their lives, so nimble fingered, so composed are they at their jobs.

As the plant publication, ROP, recites, in September 1940 a handful of workmen rolled up their sleeves and began to cut ground for the largest shell-loading plant in the world. That was then. Others have been built since and others remain to be built. Maybe some of them are larger but Ravenna is still growing.

As rapidly as the contractors finished a building, Atlas Powder Co. took it over and put it into operation.

Safety, naturally, is the watchword. Safety from intrusion—and a large force of husky guards see to that, at all gates and on patrol of the entire area. Safety in the matter of costume and shoes. Safety in a score of ways. Plant rules are rigid and they are obeyed by old-timers and by newcomers who join the payroll to the extent of several hundred daily.

A wagon load of what they're making at Ravenna, properly placed—and at the right time—could end the war. And may.

band. He said the doors were locked and that a quarrel had ensued.

Relating the story of the actual shooting, Raver said he had gone about the morning routine as usual and that when he had called his wife, she had been talking to her mother and that she accused him of infidelity.

He said he did not recall anything after having grabbed the gun and fired at his wife, except that he then tried to shoot himhimself. He said he fired, but that the shot went astray because Mrs. Wetherill struck his arm upward. He said he knelt beside his wife and took her in his arms, dazed and grief stricken.

Premeditation Charged

In Thursday's testimony, the prosecution attempted to prove the defendant committed a premeditated crime, contending that Rover had said "If I can't have you, no one else can" some time prior to the shooting that followed quarrels over her announced intention of seeking a divorce. The defense contends that the shooting was unpremeditated and was the result of a fit of anger, occasioned by his wife's intention to leave and "too much mother-in-law."

No attempt was made by the state to prove Raver sane—that effort being saved until after the defense brings up the question of sanity.

Defense Witnesses

Early defense witnesses were the youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Raver of near Carroll, O.; Charles Kistler, Carroll banker, farmer and former school board member; Rev. Ernest Seymour, pastor of the Carroll United Brethren church; and Marcus Hanna, a teacher in Sugar Grove High school and uncle of the accused youth. They testified as to his character and asserted that he never had been in trouble heretofore.

The state's case was completed with testimony of Charles R. Price Jr., local funeral director, who presented as final exhibits the bloodstained bath robe and under garments he removed from Reva Lamb Raver, 23, after her death.

As the bloodstained garments were placed on the stenographer's desk, and as his parents came to the stand to testify in his behalf, Raver's stoicism broke for a moment and he openly wiped tears from his eyes.

Nazi Chief Also Has Worry Over Outcome of War

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

Americans naturally have been viewing the war, and especially since Pearl Harbor, from the standpoint of what the allies have to do to beat the axis. A succession of setbacks has sometimes caused gloomy reflections and made the days ahead appear spaced with terrific hurdles.

Certainly there has been, and still is, reason for anxiety, but the other fellow also has his worries. How then does the axis generalissimo, Herr Hitler, regard the prospects?

What would be the reports of the mystic of Berchtesgaden to the latest pronouncement by his arch enemy, Britain's squire jawed Premier Churchill who declares the allies can't lose this year except through their own [illegible]

Again, would this Herr Hitler agree with our assistant secretary of state, A. A. Berle, that the summer of 1942 will make it plain that "the Nazi rulers of Germany have lost the war and have decreed their own ruin"?

Or what would the Nazi chief say to Berle's further assertion that "the German people know as we know, that no move on this has been made by the Nazi government for the year 1943."

Der fuehrer has the answers, for let none imagine that the mind which conceived all the deviltry that enabled him to overrun Europe hasn't also figured out his chances of ultimate victory. Certainly up to the time of his attack on Russia he felt that the world was his. How now?

First off, Hitler has made it clear that he agrees with the consensus of military experts that this probably is the decisive year of the conflict. That is, the fighting this spring and summer likely will give us a pre-view of the end.

Beyond that, the Nazi chief and his captains have acknowledged recently that they face a titanic task. Their appeals to their people show worry.

By word and deed, Herr Hitler has shown his agreement with the view that any hopes he has of winning the war must hang on two chances—the utter smashing of England by invasion, or the breaking through into the Caucasus or Middle East to get fresh supplies, lack of which in themselves would spell defeat.

We know that he has been debating the possibilities of invading England. But, as often explained in this column, invasion of Britain now, with the country set for the blow, would be an act of desperation which could scarcely succeed. The battle which is boiling up on the Russian front is going to be fearsome and bloody, and it may be decisive.

Star Carrier in Police Role; Recovers Bicycle

The alertness of a Star carrier resulted in the speedy return of a stolen bicycle yesterday.

Billy Chapman, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Chapman of 243 Kenmore avenue, spotted the bicycle in an alley on North Main street while on his paper route. He recognized it as belonging to his friend, Richard Thomas of 209 Kenmore avenue, taken Wednesday from near the Y. M. C. A.

The bicycle proved to be the stolen one, and was claimed by the owner. He reported that a rear tire, wheel and brake had been stolen and replaced with an old tire, wheel and brake.

Russian experimenters at Komsomolsk along the line of the Trans-Siberian railroad have demonstrated that vegetables can be grown in large quantities far north.

DEFENDS OVERTIME

Speaking earnestly to the house naval committee in Washington, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins (above) declared that suspension of the 40-hour work week would only reduce workers pay envelopes and result in increased basic pay rates because "overtime is just about enough to meet the extra cost of living."

Men with Tough Beards Slightly Puzzled by WPB Razor Blade Order

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 27 — American shavers rubbed stubbled chins reflectively and wondered if the horse-and-buggy beard was on its way back.

No one seemed to be sure. Even officials of the armed services were uncertain whether the proposed one-blade-a-week allotment was meant to apply to long-whiskered men on active duty.

As for the lowly civilian with set shaving habits, he tried—with some bewilderment—to figure out just how he would be affected by the war production board order of yesterday, sharply curtailing the manufacture of razors and razor blades.

On the one hand he was assured officially that an "ample supply" of razors and blades would continue, without any rationing. But he also was told—likewise officially—that only an average of one blade per shaver per week would be available. The rub, in most cases was that he used several blades a week, so one would not be "ample."

The WPB order, it was noted, omitted the usual stipulation excepting the armed services from its operation. This raised the question how it would affect an army and navy that is predominantly clean shaven.

An army press officer, [illegible] recently [illegible] streamlined [illegible] with query [illegible] ported that there [illegible] regulations [illegible] point of [illegible] left to the preference [illegible] standing officer, [illegible] proceed [illegible] into a gas mask [illegible] city military [illegible]

The navy, on the other hand, provides in regulations that a sailor can be either clean-shaven or bearded, as he chooses.

The expectation [illegible] WPB razor and blade [illegible] order would be [illegible] as the armed [illegible] concerned, and [illegible] to [illegible] civilians.

Marion Driver Fined, Another Forfeits Bond

William Snyder, 19, of [illegible] arrested by Marion state highway patrolmen Sunday on Route [illegible] north of Marion on a charge of speeding, pleaded guilty in municipal court Thursday and was fined $10 and costs by Judge Hazen. Kenneth L. Cowley, 23, of West Mansfield, also arrested by patrolmen on the same charge of speeding, forfeited $15 bond when he failed to appear in court.

TOLEDO MAN SUES TO SET ASIDE WILL

W. W. Warwick Brings Action in Morrow County.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, March 27—Walter W. Warwick of Toledo has filed suit in the Morrow county common pleas court to set aside the will of the late C. E. Parsons, Troy township farmer and rural mail carrier, who left an estate of approximately $70,000.

The will of Parsons, who died in September, provided that the bulk of the estate was to go to Morrow county to establish a home for crippled and needy children.

Morrow county commissioners and a special committee working with L. C. McCarty, prosecuting attorney, have been studying the will and many of the officials have expressed doubts about the wisdom of accepting the bequest because the entire estate would be required to establish the home and taxpayers here would have to furnish money to maintain it.

Since the necessity for such a home here is doubtful because of the small number of children in the county eligible for residence there, the commissioners have hesitated to accept the provisions of the will. They have taken no action to date.

Warwick is a distant relative of Parsons and was named with others for small amounts in the will which provided that if the commissioners do not accept it the estate is to go to certain charitable institutions elsewhere.

Jap Seizure of Andaman Islands Brings Threat Closer to India

By The Associated Press

Japan's seizure of the Andaman islands within 650 miles of Calcutta emphasizes the danger of an early invasion of India or at least air and sea attacks against her coasts.

The threat finds the British well prepared to meet an invasion from the west through the famed Khyber pass, but little is known of her defenses in the east, where she must meet the Japanese surge.

It may be the story of the Maginot line again. For years the British have spent funds fortifying the wild northwestern frontier with heavy guns hidden in the cliffs, pillboxes and miles of deep trenches.

But along the 1,400-mile eastern coast line there are no known fixed fortifications of strength for such great ports as Calcutta and Madras and the lesser but strategic port of Chittagong in the north which might be used to supply China and Burma.

Ceylon Is Strong Point

The only point of known strength is Ceylon, off the southeast coast, where the naval base of Trincomalee is situated.

The strength of this point, 800 miles from Port Blair in the Andamans, may prove a surprise to the Japanese. The British are known to have spent considerable money there in recent years—quietly.

It has repair facilities for light cruisers and smaller vessels and fuel storage facilities, and probably is about equal in importance to the fallen Dutch naval base of Soerabaja in Java.

Vice-Admiral Sir Geoffrey Layton, who left Singapore to organize Britain's naval defense of the Far East, has been made commander of land, air and sea forces at Ceylon, an island of 25,000 square miles and 5,000,000 population, and has taken steps to remove unnecessary civilians. Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Pownall, former vice chief of the British imperial staff, has been named commander of the army there.

India's light fleet of corvettes, patrol vessels and mine sweepers may have been reinforced.

India's great river systems of the Ganges and Brahmaputra in the north might afford formidable obstacles to a land advance, but Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell has announced that he would fight a war of movement, not position.

India is believed to have forces of nearly 1,000,000 men in the country, but they are not reported to be well equipped. And perhaps not completely trained.

The Andaman islands, a chain about 250 miles long, are noted for their unhealthy climate. The black natives, a small pygmy-like people called Mincopies, go entirely naked.

Cleveland Factories To Need 30,000 Workers

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 27—Cleveland factories working on war orders now employ 188,000 workmen and estimate they will need 30,000 more within six months, a survey of the United States employment service shows.

Last September, 350 factories employing 160,000 had war orders, and the number of plants has increased to 425, it was reported by B. C. Seiple, local manager of the service.

Priority unemployment has not been as great as expected, and war industries have absorbed most of those thrown out of work in civilian industries, said Seiple.

The survey also showed more employers are expected to hire women, with the expectation that 4,000 will be needed within six months.

RAIL AUXILIARY MEETS

Purchase of two $100 defense bonds was voted by Eclipse Favorite No. 40, auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, at a meeting Wednesday afternoon in Druids hall. In a social hour defense stamps were given as contest prizes. The stamps were won by Mrs. Alma Eddy and Mrs. Bertha Place. Mrs. Grace Hoehn and Mrs. Flora Mougey served lunch.

Harding Gridders To Open Practice

Coach Williams Issues Uniforms to 40 Prexies, 30 Others Tonight.

First steps toward the defense of their North Central Ohio conference football title was begun last night by Marion Harding's Presidents as Head Coach Bill Williams directed the issuance of uniforms to 40 sophomores and junior candidates at Harding Stadium.

Williams said today that more uniforms will be distributed tonight. About 30 ninth grade youths who will become sophomores at either Harding or Edison next fall will be issued equipment.

Initial drill will be held Monday at 4 p. m. and continue through to 5:30. These hours will probably be set up as a standard for the four week practice ending April 24.

Highlighting the spring drill Mansfield's Tygers, champions along with Harding, Martins Ferry, and a half dozen other Ohio teams to the mythical state title, will come here April 17 to play the Williamsmen.

Climaxing the season April 24 the graduating seniors may play next year's varsity. However, this is only tentative, Coach Williams explained.

Following distribution of uniforms last night Coach Williams met with the squad to discuss training rules and regulations for the next season. Only light setting-up exercises are in store for the Harding team the first few days. Contact work, distribution of plays, timing, blocking and tackling will come after the calisthenics, Coach Williams inferred today.

Heading the cast of eligibles for next season is End Keith Williams, captain-elect. A one-year man with plenty of zip and spirit Williams is a sure-fire leader for the pennant-defending Prexis. Four other lettermen expected to play spectacular roles in the Harding set-up are Tom Hurst, Leroy Harvey, Harold Jenkins, and Don Kay.

This quintet will be braced by the return of at least a dozen other youths who played varsity ball last season but failed to meet requirements for varsity monogram. Also a capable reserve team will contribute several players of first team calibre, it is believed.

Move Afoot To Strengthen ABC

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 27—A proposal to increase the authority of the American Bowling Congress over its 1287 local associations was taken up today.

Submitted by E. H. Baumgarten of Milwaukee, Wis., ABC secretary, the plan would permit the national organization to investigate the activities of any local bowling official upon complaint of a member of a local association.

The ABC president would appoint a five-man committee from the ABC executive board to make the inquiry.

On the tournament alleys yesterday Walter Rosnick and Harry Redtke of Los Angeles grabbed the doubles leadership with 1358. Rosnick contributed 745.

The Dayton, O., Pepsi-Colas rolled 2988 for fourth place in the team standings, while Hanna Grill of Cleveland took fifth with 2966.

John Supple of Los Angeles annexed fifth in the singles with 703.

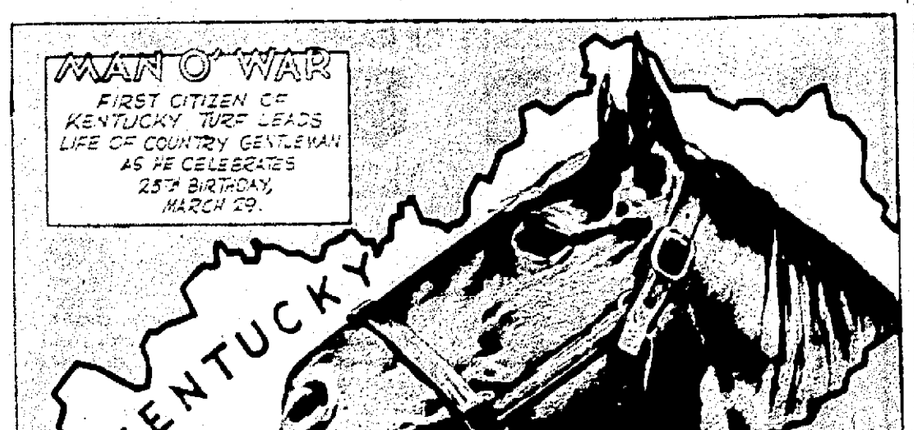
Man O'War To Be 25 Years Old Sunday



MAN O' WAR
FIRST CITIZEN OF KENTUCKY TURF LEADS LIFE OF COUNTRY GENTLEMAN AS HE CELEBRATES 25TH BIRTHDAY, MARCH 29.
KENTUCKY

THE pride of Old Kaintuck, Man O' War, will be a quarter-century old on Sunday. He is the most famous horse in American turf history and probably will always be.

Man O' War races only two years (1919-20), won 20 of his 21 starts and earned $249,465 to carve a niche in the "sport of kings'" hall of fame.

He established five world's records and two of them still stand today, and ran distances from 5½ furlongs to 1⅝ miles without asking any quarter but often giving weight odds. In his next to last appearance he packed 138 pounds.

The marks still credited to Man O' War are: 1⅝ miles in 2:14 1/5 set June 20, 1920 at Belmont, and 1⅜ miles in 2:40 4/5 made Sept. 11, 1920 at Belmont.

Because Samuel D. Riddle's chestnut bullet never competed in the handicap division, some horsemen may choose such grand old campaigners as Exterminator, Equipoise or Seabiscuit over Man O' War for America's mythical turf titan title.

Reason For Early Retirement

The reason Man O' War was retired at the end of his 3-year-old campaign, as Riddle explained it, was this:

When the Philadelphia sportsman asked a handicapper how much weight Man O' War would have to carry as a 4-year-old, he was told his horse would carry more weight than any horse ever carried before. "I knew such weight would break down his legs and I would never let that happen in the world — so I retired him," said Riddle.

And Riddle believes that one reason for Man O' War's success in stud is that he was retired sound.

Man O' War's racing record, from a won-lost standpoint, is excelled only by unbeaten Colin, but the latter never became the producer of Man O' War's calibre.

Aside from his early retirement, the only other disappointments in Man O' War's career was his not competing in the Kentucky Derby and his only defeat—by a horse named Upset.

Ran Only In East

Riddle campaigned his star exclusively in the East and didn't nominate him for the derby. Against Upset in a 2-year-old, 5½ of a milde event, Man O' War wasn't able to overcome a bad start, though at the end he was gaining ground. He outran Upset several times after that.

Man O' War won two gem races in the "triple crown"—the Preakness and the Belmont and sired two derby winners.

A Lexington, Ky., scout, Justin R. Anderson, reports that had Man O' War competed in the present day he might have created a money-earnings record, too. A comparison of seven stakes triumphs which aggregated $101,150 with the present day money award shows they would have been worth approximately $235,000 had Man O' War won them in 1920.

He was acclaimed the juvenile champion in 1919 and the 3-year-old champion in 1920 over such challengers as Blazes, On Watch, Upset and John P. Grier. In his last appearance on the track he beat Sir Barton, 4-year-old star, in a $75,000 added match event that excited the racing public but which proved something of a fiasco as a contest because Man O' War galloped in seven lengths ahead.

"You couldn't hold that horse back when he was behind," Riddle once declared. "But when he was ahead you could have held him with a silk thread. He would run them into the ground at the start."

WALKER PURCHASED BY REDS FOR $20,000

Tribe Ace Blames Front Office for Troubles.

CINCINNATI, March 27 — So the Cincinnati Reds still are trying to stop left field drives with dollar bills.

That is the local reaction to the Tampa, Fla., training camp announcement of the purchase of holdout Gerry Walker from the Cleveland Indians. The price is supposed to be $20,000, which increases almost to the $300,000 the cumulative four-year investment in the search for a hitting left fielder.

Walker, who preferred jerking sodas in his swank Orlando, Fla., drug store to taking a $5,000 cut from the Indians, may be the answer. If so, he will be a novelty in a field which has trembled under men like Vince DiMaggio, Norrie Arnovich, Johnny Rizzo, Ernie Koy, Jimmy Ripple, Wally Berger and sundry others.

These gentlemen all came with good reputations, as does Walker. But some became strikeout kings. Some suddenly couldn't follow the trajectory of a pop fly. Almost all were expensive.

So Gerald at 33 is coming to a jinxed spot, and if ever the Reds needed a jinx-breaker it's now. They batted seventh in the National league last year and finished in third place only because of their incomparable pitchers and tight defense.

Walker himself seems to think he can help.

"I'm in good shape this year and I'll play my head off," he said after coming to telephone terms with General Manager Warren C. Giles of the Reds. (The reported honorarium is $11,000, or a little less than he got from Cleveland in 1941.) "I'm tickled to death to be with another club. There's too much front office at Cleveland."

After nine good years in the American league, including a .353 average in 1936 for the Detroit Tigers, Walker slumped to .283 last year.

100 DERBY MOUNTS TO RUN IN TRIALS

Pre-Classic Race Attracts All But Requested, Apache.

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—The Derby Trail Stakes shape up as the main preview of the 1942 Kentucky Derby.

With the exception of Requested and Apache, every candidate of major ranking for the 68th renewal of the derby at Churchill Downs May 2 is included in the list of 102 thoroughbreds nominated for the mile-long trial at the Downs on Tuesday before the derby.

Since its inception four years ago the Derby Trial with its purse of $2,500 added has increased in importance as a final testing of top candidates for the $75,000 Derby pot. The total of 102 thoroughbreds nominated for this year's trial is 42 more than last year's record number.

Heading the list of nominees are Mrs. Al Sabath's Alsab, 1941 juvenile champion, and Warren Wright's Sun Again, winner of the Arlington futurity.

Col. E. R. Bradley, who has sent four Kentucky Derby winners to the post, named his Bless Me, and Mrs. Payne Whitney, whose Twenty Grand captured the wreath of roses in 1931, nominated Devil Diver, winner of last year's Breeders' Futurity.

Also named is Mrs. Ralph McIlvain's Bright Willie and E.G.A. Berger's Boot and Spurs, which beat Calumet Farm's Some Chance, winner of the Belmont Futurity, in a race several weeks ago at Agua Caliente.

Four fillies were named for the trial. They are Mar-Kell, a daughter of Blenheim II, and Nellie Flag; Winter Wind, Emolument and Gold Princess.

Heavyweight Title at Sta in Louis-Simon Fight Tonig

Army Emergency Relief To Net About $60,000 f $125,000 Gate.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 27—Buck Private Joe Louis and Bridegroom Abe Simon try to tear each other apart tonight for the benefit of the folks the soldier boys left behind.

Promptly at 10 p. m. Marion time, the dark destroyer and the huge happy giant from Long Island go to work in Madison Square Garden's bunting-bedecked ring. They're down for a 15-round scuffle for Joe's heavyweight championship. But even Abe's best friends tell him he's a cinch to become just another victim of the Bomber before the derby route runs its course.

Despite the lop-sided chances of Joe's 21st successful defense of his crown in his all-time record run as champ, the real winner this time will be Army Emergency Relief, the fund recently set up to care for the needy families of soldiers in action.

Exactly 11 weeks ago, Joe bowled Buddy Baer over in three minutes and the navy relief society profited by $89,000 from a gate of $189,000. This time, the best semi-official estimates are that the boys and girls may get a slightly longer run for their money—say four or five rounds—and the army will get between $50,000 and $60,000 from a gross of $125,000 to $150,000.

This total will be contributed by an expected crowd of 16,000 of the faithful who offer loud testimony to the drawing power of the greatest sports figure of this decade. For the second time in less than three months, he puts his million-dollar stock in trade—his championship—on the line for exactly nothing. All of his 40 per cent end of the purse, less only training expenses, will go to the fund. So will Mike Jacob's promotional profits, a portion of Simon's 15 per cent cut of the gate and a half of Madison Square Garden's take.

In Simon, the Bomber a 253-pounder with a big, left hand, a fighting heart as large and an ability to punishment that is startli see. At the same time, ho virtually no one can see Abie the Ample can get the way of Joe's big guns target practice starts—and is out to start early tonig

A year ago this month lasted 13 rounds with Louis, he says he's in better con and faster. It might interes to know Joe is, too.

Accordion-Playing Base Coach Gets Boudreau's Stamp of Approval.

By The Associated Press

CLEARWATER, Fla.—The most colorful and welcome comeback of the present baseball training season undoubtedly is that of Oscar Melillo, the red-faced, red-headed, accordion-playing coach of the Cleveland Indians.

If anyone had been making book a year ago on little Oscar's chances of ever again wearing a baseball uniform the price would have been at least 100-to-1 and even then the bookie would have felt that he was stealing money. It is doubtful that Melillo, himself, would have been tempted to take a bit of the short end.

Perhaps the story of Oscar's return from Limbo could be taken as more than honesty and complete devotion to one's calling will gain its just reward. It probably proves, on the other hand, that Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's "boy" manager, is a person gifted with an exceptional imagination.

Standout

You see, Melillo was the only one in Cleveland's official baseball family who stood shoulder-to-shoulder with Manager Oscar Vitt and fought the players through that nasty uprising of two months ago, when the Indians blew the American league pennant by a single game when they should have waltzed home in front.

Melillo, one of the game's great fielding second basemen only a few years ago, didn't necessarily see eye to eye in the angry quarrel between Vitt and the men who tried to have him deposed in the heat of the campaign. He did, however, make it abundantly plain that he despised a ball player who didn't give the game everything he had while he was in uniform. Melillo always had been a scrapper in his playing days, and it burned him to a point of desperation to watch a club lose to defeat simply because it did not like its manager personally.

So Coach Oscar assailed the so-called "rebels" day after day with invective that still is recalled with envy by a few who were privileged to hear him. They only feared that he wasn't injured beyond repair, for some of the athletes Melillo worked on were about twice his size and their tempers were on razor-edge.

Two "Oscars" Leave

When the sorry race ended, out went Vitt, and Melillo with him. Vitt caught on in the minors, but Melillo, sickened a bit of baseball, made no great effort, they say, to get another coaching job. It is doubtful that he entertained the slightest hope of getting back in the game.

It must have come as quite a shock to Oscar when he was offered his old job back as first base coach. Needless to say, he accepted Lou's offer with alacrity, and he is one of the happiest looking individuals in Florida.

Just why Boudreau chose Oscar, the fiery cussed of the 1940 mutiny, is a question to ponder. Several of the men who fought Vitt the hardest and who endured Melillo's tongue lashings, still are on the team, and they must play their best ball if the Indians are to stay in the first division. As a matter of fact, it has never been a matter of record that Boudreau was on Vitt's side. It is a strange situation.

This much is certain: Boudreau gained an honest admiration for Melillo during the 1940 debacle.

The players? Well, at least one of the mutineers feels this way: "Hold it against Oscar? Of course not. He's a great little guy and we're all for him. This is another year."

Dodds May Win At Cleveland; Leslie MacMitchell Out

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 27—Neither Leslie MacMitchell nor a mechanical rabbit will be available tonight, so it will be up to Earl Mitchell of Indiana and James Rafferty of Fordham to see whether Gil Dodds can follow his old coach's advice on the question of a fast start versus shadow-trampling.

The occasion is the mile run in the Knights of Columbus track meet.

The advice came yesterday from Lloyd Hahn, the Nebraskan who tutored Dodds in high school, and coached by mail when Gil was an undergraduate at Ashland (O.) college, in the days before he became a divinity student and took up running for the Boston A. A.

Hahn said the way to run distances is to save up for the finish, and let someone else set the pace. He even advocated a mechanical dummy, similar to the rabbit used at dog tracks, to set the pace and allow everyone on the track to relax until the finish.

Sure, said Dodds when he heard it, "that's correct, but what are you going to do when no one wants to go out and set a fast enough pace?"

MacMitchell might have been available tonight, as he was entered for the mile, but his coach withdrew him because tonight's date was too close to Wednesday night's naval relief meet in New York.

That was the night MacMitchell beat Dodds, making him one up in the three times they have met in the mile.

It is only since he has been back east that Dodds has been using a fast start, with which he snapped in the National A. A. U. meet MacMitchell's string of 19 victories.

The absence of MacMitchell probably means only that the customers' eyes will turn to other events.

The great quartet of runners from Seton Hall college, for example, is riding such a groove that it's getting into the record-cracking habit. Three weeks ago the quartet did 7:39.8, nearly two seconds better than the former mark made by a Georgetown quartet 17 years ago, and Wednesday at New York lowered it to 7:33.9.

Greg Rice, who does the two-mile run so well that he has won 47 consecutive times, is competing against Jim Rafferty, Joe McCluskey, Fred Wilt of Indiana U. and Duane Zemper of Michigan Normal.

There are 16 regular events, plus others for high school runners.

Seven of tonight's performers won places last night on the All America track team selected by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union. These included Chuck Beetham, formerly of Ohio State, who will appear in the 600 yard run.

TITLE BOUND?

Here is ponderous Abe Simon, New York heavyweight, who meets Joe Louis for the heavyweight title in New York, March 27. Simon fought Louis once before, losing by a kaye in the 13th round. The bout is for the benefit of the Army Relief fund.

Class "A" Cage Receipts May Fall Below Mark

COLUMBUS, O., March 27.—Unless the four finalists in Ohio's Class A basketball championship attract a "gate" of around $8,000 to Ken State university's gymnasium Saturday, the annual schoolboy cage classic receipts will send under the record of $19,284 set a year ago.

Including the four Class A regional meetings of last week-end, and the Class B championship finals at Springfield, the Ohio High School Athletic association's books show $11,246 in the till.

The Class B classic, won by Somerset, drew approximately $5,000, while the four regionals attracted $6,246 from the playing customers, divided like this: Dayton, $2,183; Dennison, $1,193; Findlay, $963, and Youngstown, $1,887.

With two Northeastern district teams still in there, and two of the state's outstanding quintets from other sections furnishing the opposition, it's possible the Kent tourney will go over the top for the necessary $8,000.

The Kent gym holds 5,300 fans, and the tariff is 75 cents per session.

Xenia Record Best

Akron's North Vikings, winners of 22 of 24 games, meet Toledo Central Catholic, winner of 28 of 30, in the opening semi-finals game, while Xenia Central, beaten once in 24 starts and with 19 straight wins, clashes with Canton Lehman's underdogs who have dropped seven of 23 contests. Winners of the afternoon games meet in the evening for the crown surrendered by Martins Ferry, beaten in the Eastern district play.

While there was every indication that a slight drop was in prospect for the final round receipts, the country "return" was up a bit. The 86 county meets (none is held in Cuyahoga and Lake) drew $86,555.68 this year, as compared with $82,977.77 in 1941—and five more tourneys are to be heard from, further boosting the 1942 count.

Despite the hike in receipts, attendance fell from 256,485 last year to 233,070, the new federal admissions tax being responsible for most of the money increase. Only the Class B quintets take part in the county events, and no report has been made by Montgomery, Hamilton, Wyandot, Fairfield and Lawrence counties.

Oly one district report was completed, the Class A and Class B qualifiers in the Eastern area having attracted 22,080 fans who paid $9,393.53, as compared with gate receipts of $8,835.77 nd 19,679 customers in 1941.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, March 27—Next big benefit show after tonight likely will be the navy relief card in Washington—and part of the relief probably will be to relieve Freddie Cochrane of his welterweight title. . . Called in to arrange a card, Mike Jacobs' first suggestion was that the navy should give Cochrane the leave he claims is necessary to get in shape for a title fight against Ray Robinson. . . The M. P. who has been guarding Joe Louis' dressing room down at Fort Dix is an old-time rassler, known professionally as "The Dark Angel" and "Dynamite Blackman." . . . When Joe started training for tonight's fuss, Eddie Blunt didn't have much trouble spearing him with a left. Now Eddie has trouble touching him with either hand.

Today's Guest Star—Frank Graham, New York Sun: "Prize fighting, as Jimmy Johnston so frequently has remarked, is very funny business. If he never had done so before, Jimmy proved it when he put Abe Simon into a ring to fight Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship of the world and he is going to prove it again when he steers Abe up the steps to fight Louis for the second time."

Sportpourri — Stopping at Augusta on his way to Pinehurst to check up on arrangements for the Masters' Golf tournament, Freddie Corcoran of the P.G.A., heard that the Japanese diplomatic corps had almost moved in there from White Sulphur Springs. . . "I guess they objected to the American plan," Freddie commented. . . After Boot and Spur gave Some Chance a licking at Agua Caliente a couple of weeks ago, Owner E. C. A. Berger turned down an offer of $25,000 for the hoss. He said he'd rather win the Derby.

Hoop-La — Ohioans wonder how come Indiana claims to be such a great state for high school basketball. The Hoosiers have fewer than 800 scholastic teams, while 1,154 started in the Ohio state tournament.

Food For Though — Noting that two guys who pitched for the Red Sox against Detroit the other day were Hash and Brown, and that Trout started for the Tigers, James E. Doyle of the Cleveland Plain Dealer says that all were warmed up well so they had no trouble finding the dish.

ONE FOR THE BOOK

By The Associated Press

SAN RAFAEL, Calif.—The odds were virtually incalculable against this happening, but it did. Nick Sorich and his son, Russell, after bowling 60 straight games together on the same team had identical scores of 10,906.

TRIES HARD

IT'S PROOF THAT COUNTS

EVANSTON, Ill.—According to a survey made of 330 former Northwestern university football lettermen, the grid stars do better in later life than other graduates. One example showed that the average income of the members of the 1929 championship team now is $5000 yearly, vastly higher than the median income for all other college graduates. Of the entire football group, three per cent were Phi Beta Kappas, which is twice the percentage of the total alumni body. Incidentally, 96 per cent of the players said they would play again if they had it to do over, and 89 per cent want their sons to play.

The Bat and Nick Billins Triumph in Uneventful Armory Mat Show

Steve Nemoff, Sailor Olsen Victims of Treachery; Joe Maish, Flash Clifford Fight To Draw.

This is an old story so don't get excited.

Last night's edition of Promoter Lee Fishbaugh's weekly wrestling card turned out to be nothing better than a dose of sleeping powders and two of the dullest rasslers to appear here this season.

The exhibition was not the fault of Promoter Fishbaugh, by any matter of means, because for the recent weeks brought top-notch mat stars to the local ring, but merely the matta of one man to bite, gouge, kick, choke, and generally play havoc with the physique of another.

If that's wrestling, then this corner behind the ring post wants no part of it.

Last night's brawl (the Steve Nemoff-Bat affair) progressed to such a hectic point that even members of the recently-appointed boxing and wrestling commission threatened to disqualify the black-clad Bat. Referee Lefty Facet let it be known in no uncertain terms that he was calling every foul he saw, but almost without exception fans were of the opinion that he didn't see many.

Enough of the opinions; the famed Bat grappled bulky Nemoff for nearly 25 minutes before resorting to his lowest form of torture—choking. Officially it was a head stand that put Steve under, but the series of chokes paved the way for the fall. Returning after a 10 minute rest Nemoff evened the fight, flooring the Bat with a hammer lock. Upon returning to the ring for the deciding fall the blacked-out Bat put Nemoff through a treacherous airplane whirl which lacked only a power dive to be the real McCoy.

In the first half of the double main-go event Nick Billins won the nod over Sailor Olsen of Seattle, Wash. He was spectacular only from the rough-going side but not so rough as his contemporary. The Bat. The Sailor won the first fall in 10 minutes with a body slam off of the ropes followed by a body press. Billins bagged the next two falls, both with a Boston crab hold.

Flash Clifford of Louisville and Joe Maish of Toronto, Canada, played tag for fully 30 minutes before calling it a draw in the prelim. The Kent was a credit to neither grappler and was far below Maish's performance here last week against Nick Billins. Clifford, with the looks of an All-American tackle or guard, has failed to look good in any of his recent appearances and consequently Marion fans did not expect too much.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

Plinted by Their New Allies, Madge and Her Guards Approach Diswell's Home by Detour Road.

GUS CONSIDERED my question for several seconds before he answered me. He looked out the windows of the heavily swaying car, and I knew he was appraising the thick undergrowth along the trail.

"Yes, I think they could be hid all right," he said at last "providing the brush around the old man's house is a thick as it is here"

"That, of course, we will have to wait to find out" I said, then Gus exclaimed

"That car ahead, has just dropped out of sight"

Bill pulled back the explanation

"Hold tight!" he said "We're going to make a sharp turn"

Before us was a short, steep ascent, which looked as if no car could make it But Joe put our big armored car up as if it were a racer, then we dropped out abruptly down the other slope and turned into another road

"This must be the detour you wanted," Gus said, and Bill called back again

"The other cars ahead" he said "This road curves around Thunder Mountain, and then comes back up it again from the other side"

"Thunder Mountain!" I repeated the words to myself remembering their association with Professor Walter Scott Diswell

Sought Seclusion

When the eminent ancient language scholar had reached the age of retirement at his beloved university, he had created a whirlwind of speculation by dropping out of sight

Several months later a reporter for a Connecticut newspaper, who knew Diswell by sight, discovered that the old man was building a retreat on Thunder Mountain, where he could have the quiet seclusion which was his dearest wish Photographers, barred from the grounds got what pictures they could from secret vantage points, but the results were unsatisfactory

I had read those newspaper stories with interest, because of my former visits to the old savant with Jack in my brother-cousin's college days, and my memory always has retained the name of Thunder Mountain, and its approximate location. It therefore had been comparatively easy for me to plan this trip, which now was approaching its end under circumstances of which I had not dreamed when I began it,

Why were those gangsters—as Jim Watson had judged them—hunting for the Diswell home' This question beat disturbingly upon my brain, and the most plausible answer—that their visit was a desperate attempt to [illegible] Jack Porter's secret—was not delightful
